

5 REASONS

your child should have a developmental SCREENING

1

Regular screenings help raise awareness of your child's development, making it easier to celebrate milestones and identify possible development concerns as early as possible.

2

Identifying delays early on allows experts to create individualized plans and perform the appropriate interventions that will improve a child's ability to thrive.

3

Screenings address both specific and general developmental areas, such as specific disorders like Autism, specific areas like cognitive development, language, social-emotional development, and gross and fine motor skills, as well as more general, overall health and development.

4

Identifying a family's needs through the screening process creates the opportunity to provide Wyoming families with resources, services, and support.

5

Screenings are FREE in Wyoming and available in your county!
